MACROECONOMIC OVERVIEW

In January, equity markets rallied for the best month of performance in the past several years as some of the market panic that was prevalent in December subdued and calmer sentiment prevailed. Markets bounced back on some expectation that the U.S. Federal Reserve (Fed) would reconsider their stance on gradual rate hikes given the volatility of December and this was reaffirmed as the Fed stood firm on interest rates. The neutral rate path at least for the year 2019 suggests that conditions have softened and the Fed has taken notice. Equity markets continued to rally into the end of the quarter on the back of toned down trade rhetoric and strength in earnings. While there was no resolution to the continued trade tensions with China, there was some optimism that the continued negotiations will eventually lead to a deal.

FUND OVERVIEW

Transamerica Large Value Opportunities underperformed the MSCI USA Value Total Return Index benchmark. The strongest contributors to relative performance were in the information technology and financials sectors. The largest detracting sector from relative performance was the energy sector. The mature cyclical categorization was the top performing growth category exhibiting strong stock selection while the high cyclical growth categorization were the worst performing. Factor volatility has continued in 2019. Risk and value factors rebounded in January, took a pause in February but declined sharply in March as growth and sentiment have taken over leadership. Quality underperformed in early January and towards end of March. The model was flat until February, with the underperformance occurring in March.

OUTLOOK

With the Fed signaling that they would pause rate hikes at least for the year of 2019, central bank policy has become more dovish to begin the year as other central banks signal accommodative policy measures as well. The slowing global growth is a common theme cited by central bank announcements, though the U.S. economy remains robust. The U.S. equity market has hummed along so far this year but remains at a bit of a crossroads. If earnings expectations taper, this would be a major headwind to the overall story that U.S. growth can continue. On the other hand, a trade deal to alleviate the U.S./China trade negotiations would be a significant tailwind and could be a major boost for sentiment. PineBridge's outlook for the U.S. market remains cautiously optimistic based on underlying fundamentals and a possibility of a trade-related market catalyst.

The fund acquired the assets and assumed the liabilities of three Transamerica Partners funds, including Transamerica Partners Institutional Large Value (the "predecessor fund"), on May 5, 2017, and the predecessor fund is the accounting and performance survivor of the reorganizations. This means that the predecessor fund's financial and performance history became the financial and performance history of the fund. In the reorganization of the predecessor fund, shareholders of the predecessor fund received Class R4 shares of the fund. The performance of Class R4 shares includes the performance of the predecessor fund prior to the reorganization, and has not been restated to reflect the estimated annual operating expenses of Class R4 shares. Please read the prospectus for more information.

The MSCI USA Value Index is an unmanaged index used as a general measure of market performance. It is not possible to invest directly into an index. Calculations assume dividends and capital gains are reinvested and do not include any managerial expenses.

The price of equity securities fluctuates based on changes in a company's financial condition and overall market and economic conditions. If the market prices of the equity securities owned by the fund fall, the value of the fund will decline. Value investing carries the risk that the market will not recognize a security's intrinsic value for a long time or that an undervalued stock is actually appropriately priced. The fund may be more concentrated than that of a more diversified fund, subjecting it to greater fluctuation and risk. Shares may be sold (or "redeemed") on any day the New York Stock Exchange is open for business. Proceeds from the redemption of shares will usually be sent to the redeeming shareholder within three business days after receipt in good order of a request for redemption. However, Transamerica Funds has the right to take up to seven days to pay redemption proceeds, and may postpone payment under certain circumstances, as authorized by law.

Mutual funds are subject to market risk, including loss of principal. Past performance is not indicative of future results.
